Steppingstones

Steppingstones '71 was held at the College during the week of January 25th. Weather wise a worse time could not have been chosen. Things were so bad the sessions of Wednesday, January 27th had to be cancelled. However, despite the weather and the very low student attendance, Bill Pelton and his Committee feel that success will be theirs in the coming years. The disappointments were there but Bill is optimistic.

Steppingstones '71 was a series of meetings between Loyola students and members of the business, professional and academic communities. The primary purpose of the meetings was to provide information to a group that will soon be taking permanent jobs.

The format selected for the meetings left the control of the content of the subject matter largely to the students. There were to be eight sessions each featuring two speakers.

Because of the Wednesday cancellation only six sessions were held. All twelve speakers involved were excellent. They proved to be very adept in the delivery of their initial speeches and reacted swiftly and knowledgeably to questions from the floor.

The speakers were not chosen to be spokesmen for special groups. No more were they recruiters for particular companies or industries. They were not career counsellors. They were not coming to these seminars to propagandize or advise. They were at Loyola to give information and answer questions. They were people of talent, awareness, understanding, and honesty. They were frank and to the point. Simply stated, they told it "the way it is" in the business, professional, and academic communities of today.

NOMINATIONS FOR 1971-1972

The Loyola of Montreal Alumni Association, through the actions of its Directors, has appointed a Nominating Committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. W. H. Wilson, Jr.

This Committee will meet at the call of its Chairman, to consider appropriate candidates for each office requiring election

On or before the 30th day of March 1971, the Nominating Committee will transmit to the Director of Alumni Affairs a slate of candidates for each office and elective seat upon the Board of Directors of the Association.

All members of the Association are eligible for a seat on the Board of Directors (there are nine elected Directors).

Each Director is elected at the Annual General Meeting of the members. Each Director so elected shall hold office until the election of his successor, unless he shall resign or his office become vacant by death or other cause. A retiring Director is eligible for re-election if otherwise qualified. However, no member is eligible for election as President, First or Second Vice-President, Secretary or Treasurer unless he has previously served as a Director.

The Directors of the Association manage and administer the affairs of the Association.

If you are interested in becoming a Director of the Association or know of someone who might be interested please contact Bill Wilson, Jr. at 937-6151.

As the Association grows in members, the Board of Directors should reflect this growth by having many young Directors in the Board.

Here is an opportunity for you to continue in a meaningful way your contact with Loyola.

If you wish to obtain further information on the procedure of nominations and elections, write to the Director of Alumni Affairs, Loyola of Montreal, 7141 Sherbrooke St. West, Montreal 262, Que.

with an opportunity to listen to these qualified speakers and to ask questions. The seventy-five or so who attended the sessions were high in praise of the Alumni venture. Unfortunately many more, who could have made use of the information, were nowhere to be found.

As mentioned at the beginning of the article the weather had some influence on events, however, in general the students appeared to be very apathetic and seemed unwilling to give up an evening or two for the sake of their future.

'45-'46 WARRIORS REVISITED

The Loyola Warriors of 1945-46 are considered by most knowledgeable sports analysts as the greatest hockey team ever assembled at the College.

Since this year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of their exploits, the "Alumnus" presents the following article by Bob Bulger, one of the many World War II veterans connected with the club. It first appeared in the "Loyola Review" of 1946.

A sign should be placed over the door of the college dressing room to the effect that "Through This Portal Passed the Greatest Guys in College Hockey". This would be but a small tribute to the Senior College team for 1945-46. They were a championship team and every man was himself a champion. It was Loyola's first venture into the ranks of Senior Intercollegiate Hockey and a better team could not have been found to wear the maroon-and-white.

They were the "Big Squad" of Loyola, and as such they were the leaders to set an example for all the college teams. And set an example they did. In years to come they will be a criterion and standard for every team that dons maroon-and-white. They were a gay, noisy outfit, never taking anything seriously except their hockey. The dressing room was rife with jokes, plenty of laughs and many a man was the target for a tirade of wisecracks from his teammates. Vets made up four-fifths of the team.

They were never downhearted, and when the breaks didn't seem to come their way, they went out and made their own breaks. They always fought like wildcats and played the game as it should be played, hard, fast, clean, giving no quarter and asking for none. It was my good fortune to serve these ice warrior in the capacity of chief waterboy and assistant wallet minder.

Who were these men whose virtues I have extolled? Well, there was Kev Kennedy. I can still see him in the goal-mouth, kicking out rubber with reckless abandon and making impossible saves. He was a man who always played the angles and in the hottest spot remained as cool as the ice on which he stood. Then there was defenceman Ed. Asselin, who was continually losing his equipment in the dressing room, but never lost track of the game; a hard checker with a shot that made him the terror of opposing goalies.

It was a tough break that sent Frank Graham crashing into the boards at Quebec, to be carried from the ice with a broken ankle, never to don blades for the rest of the season. He was a very effective player, a fast breaker and rapidly rounding into a fine defenceman. Bernie "Dit" McCallum, while playing defence, doubled as a second goaler out front, for he stopped almost as many shots in a game as did Kev Kennedy. His steady playing pulled the team out of many a tight spot and his poke checks were reminiscent of the days of the great Frank Nighbor of "up the Creek" fame.

Another blue ribbon player was Joe McArdle, who always turned in a smart game. We was constantly feeding his forwards, and could be counted on to clear the puck when the opponents were crowding the nets with a power play.

Up frontwas right-winger Cliff Malone who never failed to come through with at least one goal during a contest. Captain of the team, he was a model player, and in the vernacular of the Air Force, in which he served, he constantly played a bang-on game. His wing part ner was Owen "shortstop" Maloney, a swell fellow and a swell player. He is not a big man by hockey standards, but what he lacked in stature he made up for in speed, and his shifting around enemy blue lines confused many a defenceman. Talking of speed brings us to Don McQueston, pivot man of the great "M" line. A brilliant playmaker who knew when and where to pass the puck. he set up many a play that ended with a flash of the red light. It was a pleasure to watch him go through his paces and through his opponents.

Rugged Eddie Meagher, another center man, could throw a body check with the best of them. A good man to have around when we were doing duty in the penalty box. "Whitey" Schutz (Tiny's pride and joy), right winger, is a beautiful skater and his rushes were a joy to behold . . . a player who never missed around the nets.

Third man of the line was John Meagher, a scrappy young fellow who teamed up well with his brother. He always came through with a goal when it was most needed. Bill Burchmore, one of the fastest skating right-wingers seen around here in a long time, a great back-checker and a plugger who personified perpetual motion on skates. And there was Tubby O'Connell, an industrious left-winger who took his hockey seriously and always gave his best. Phil Neville centered the last two. He is a smooth player who can stickhabdle his way out of any corner. The team needed a defenceman for the Laval game here and Ron Sutherland was brought up. He played a swell game and indicated that we will hear more of him later on. Sub-goaler Fraser O'Shaughnessy's record with the Senior High team speaks well enough for itself.

Of course, a special citation goes to Coach Gordie Marriot who masterminded us through plenty of difficulties. His gray hairs are labelled with the names of all the players and the Lord only knows how many they gave him. My boss, Paul Delicaet, divided his time between refusing the boys rolls of tape with one hand and giving it out with the other. A boy who always had the good of the team at heart. Yes, they were a game lot, those boys of Dressing Room 4. They didn't know what it meant to quit, and fight was the only word in their vocabulary. They were well worth knowing.

The above article did not specify the many decorations for bravery in action that some of the team members acquired during the 1939-45 conflict. Some of the personnel of the team were prisoners of war, most were combat veterans.

These so-called "Hardened individuals", who took their hockey seriously, never refused to partake in festivities with the opposition once the game was ended.

Where are they now? It's a good question and here are some of the answers.

Very Rev. Robert O'Connell is Provincial of the Holy Cross Fathers. Clifford Malone sits behind a large desk as President of Chemcell, Dr. John Meagher went east to become Head of the Department of Physical Education at the University of New Brunswick. Edmund Meagher and Bernard McCallum remain active members of the Lovola Community, Ed as Vice-Principal of the High School and Bern as Director of Alumni Affairs. Rev. Joseph McArdle, S.J. is vice-principal of St. Paul's High School in Winnipeg. Practising dentistry in Montreal - none other than Dr. Albert Schutz. William Burchmore only recently won fame as a hockey materials inventor. Edmund Asselin, after a career in Parliament, is now a lawyer in Montreal.

The "old Coach" Gordon Marriot holds the position of Sales Manager for Commercial Alcohols Ltd. in Montreal and Owen Maloney has just returned to Montreal from sunny California and is presently Internal Auditor for Gulf Oil Canada Limited. Phil Neville directs many projects as Manager of Plant Engineering in the Electrical Division of the Northern Electric Wire and Cable Comapny in Lachine. Unfortunately, we were unable to find a few of the others but we understand Bob Bulger is still leading the kilted R.C.A.F. bag-pipe band. And there you have them twentyfive years later.

OLD-TIMERS NHLvsLOYOLA MARCH 3, 1971

Wednesday, March 3, 1971 at 8:15 P.M. in the Pointe Claire Arena, the Loyola Warrior Old-Timers under the direction of Dr. Jack McMullan, take on the vaunted N.H.L. Quebec Old-Timers.

Last year's game between the same two teams was an exciting and wellplayed affair. As a matter of fact many of the N.H.L. Old-Timers called it their best outing of the season.

This year the N.H.L. will feature some "new" Old-Timers such as Claude Provost, Boom-Boom Geoffrion, Doug Harvey and possibly one or two others, who will have retired from N.H.L. competition by game time.

Also featured are Glen Harmon, Ken Mosdell, Gerry Heffernan, Connie Broden, Danny and Frank Porteous, Gerry McNeil, Jimmy Orlando, Dickie Moore, Buddy O'Connor and Elmer Lach.

The Warriors expect to ice pretty much the same team as last year. There will be Herb English, George Lackenbauer, Gord Lackenbauer, Peter Morin, Jr., Rocky Brisbois, Richy Dawson, Art Thomas, Jr., Pete Jodoin, Ray Brisebois, Mike Labrosse and many more. If you're interested in playing and have been fairly active in hockey in recent times contact Dr. McMullan at 935-8638. He needs some help.

The game was transferred to the Pointe Claire Arena from the Loyola Athletic Complex because of the larger seating capacity. Most followers of hockey are aware that the N.H.L. Old-Timers give all their proceeds to charity. This year the Loyola proceeds, after expenses and taxes, will be used to provide the present Loyola Warriors, the "Hockey-Canada" champions, with jackets, while the remaining amounts will be channelled into the Campus Centre.

Perhaps you are unable to make the game but would like to contribute to the charity aspect of it. While adult tickets are two dollars and student and children tickets one dollar, we will acknowledge all donations over the ticket prices and will forward receipts for such donations to you. So you can, if you wish, contribute ten dollars or so to the charitable fund. We would appreciate your giving this matter your serious consideration. Help us to help some others.
